

eLearning Training

Our eLearning provides a comprehensive range of online workplace safety and wellbeing training modules and resources for employees. Topics range from reporting accidents to first aid to working at height. And they're all available on the NIG Risk Assist portal.

Cost-effective workplace safety and wellbeing training for employees, all available online.

Why use eLearning?

It's essential employees know about their health and safety responsibilities, along with the most common workplace hazards. Risk Assist's eLearning provides a cost-effective way to train staff in health and safety and prevent accidents. It's especially useful for widely dispersed workforces, or where class-based training isn't practical, or training budgets are tight.

Why use Cyber Essentials?

- Designed to make learning easy, enjoyable and effective.
- Unlimited user accounts for the entire organisation, whatever size, at no extra cost.
- Assign courses to staff, monitor progress and issue certificates to successful candidates using the comprehensive administrative suite.
- Approved and accredited by Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents (RoSPA), Continuing Professional Development (CPD) and mapped to National Occupational Standard (NOS)* providing credits towards relevant NVQs.

Health and Safety training course subjects include:

- Accident Reporting
- Health and Safety Law
- Workplace Assessment
- Manual Handling
- Slips, Trips and Falls
- Electrical Safety
- Hazardous Substances
- Fire Safety
- Stress Management
- Mental Health Awareness

*National Occupational Standards are approved by UK government regulators.

The key benefits

- Easy online access – in the office or on the go.
- Complements in-house training, helping to reduce costs.
- Helps protect staff and reduce accidents by raising awareness of workplace hazards and wellbeing issues.
- Reduces the need to pay for costly consultants and formal assessments.
- Certificates produced for each course, speeding up the accreditation process.
- Supports formal qualifications and licensing – for example, apprentices, operational staff, promotions, skills upgrades.
- Creates a reliable audit trail in case of legal actions and claims.
